

CRATE FARM is a responsible American manufacturing company with as much pride in workmanship as in the days of our grandparents. We make replicas of wooden harvesting crates and containers that were used in orchards and country stores from early pioneer days to the 1950s. Our crates and cutting boards are expertly handcrafted...right here in America!

WOOD MILL LOCATIONS

- ◆ Florida: Cypress, non-endangered wood
- ◆ Maine: White Pine, Certified Green, non-endangered wood
- ◆ Vermont: Maple, non-endangered wood
- ◆ New York: Yellow Birch, non-endangered wood

SUSTAINABLE FARMING

We select and use the finest available wood and manufacturing materials. The timber that we use is cultivated and cut under strict government regulations. These lumber resources maintain reforestation and protection of rain forests...which is vital to our Eco-system.

CUSTOM DESIGNING

Our marketing team works closely with customers to create the perfect design, within budget, by the time that is necessary to complete a successful new program. When the desired style and specifications are determined, we produce prototypes for corporate review. Price depends on:

- ◆ Quantity: Minimum quantity requirements are necessary for a custom program
- ◆ Wood: Our wood is non-endangered and our loggers practice sustainable farming
- ◆ Style: We will help in the design process or work from your spec information
- ◆ Packaging: Our products are shipped in cartons or on shrink wrapped pallets

PROMOTE BRAND IDENTITY

We hot brand or silk-screen logos and add custom designed labels to enhance our customer's crates and cutting boards. They are as beautiful as the wooden containers of days gone by.

Customized crate enhancements consist of:

- ◆ Silk Screening
- ◆ Hot Branding
- ◆ Rubber Stamping
- ◆ Labeling

PROMOTE "VALUE ADDED" IMPULSE SALES

Our replicas of vintage crates are perfect for gift packaging to hold any product. Fill them up with products to promote value added, high margin, and impulse sales.

WE CARE

HAPPY HARVESTING!

We look forward to partnering with your impressive company. Our efforts together would produce a product that will thrill your customers, enhance the atmosphere of your store, and increase your harvest in sales. Give us a call...anytime.
